Service Learning Opportunities

Working as a volunteer in a service learning project in Ecuador / Peru / Bolivia is a unique way to get in touch with the local people and to build up character strengths of tolerance, global perspective, cultural sensitivity, multi-language fluency, flexibility and many more.

For our program, we have selected a large number of non profit institutions which opened their doors to international volunteers. Choose between community work with poor children or in the health sector, or an ecological project in such as monkey conservation in the Bolivian jungle or working on the exotic Galapagos Islands Internships. The time required for this program is minimum 4 weeks.

Add a priceless bonus to your CV by earning real life experience and fluency in the Spanish language by living in a culture totally different from yours.

We are able to provide unforgettable service learning projects not just for the traditional university aged student but for anyone from anywhere in the world. No other venue can provide this unique combination of academic excellence and real life experience, priceless to those lucky enough to participate and enjoy.

You should have at least two week time for your service learning project, as this will allow you to perform your duties independently and get familiar with and adapt to the staff and the children or patients you are working with. If you volunteer for a longer time, that's even better, since you will be given more responsibilities and assigned more interesting tasks, and you will be able to work without much supervision.

It is very important that you are a responsible and independent person and that during your entire work placement you show very high self-initiative and motivation. Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia are developing countries and resources are limited for certain sectors of the population, but we are also sure that you will have a rewarding experience. Things are not always as we would like them to be, and it is precisely for this reason that our work is so important, in trying to create a web of support for those who need it in various fields such as education, medicine, ecology, social work and affection, which often is the most important of all.

We are sure that you will get immense satisfaction from your volunteer program in Ecuador, Peru or Bolivia and you will realize that there are people in the world who need you - someone not looking for anything in return - to help them. This is the reward of the true volunteer student.
